DANCER, FRIEND OF DEMPSEY, IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Lina Basquette Takes Poison After Telling Of Engagement

Los Angeles, July 29—(AP)—Lina Basquette, 25-year-old actress, swallowed poison today a few hours after she announced her engagement to Teddy Hayes, former trainer of Jack Dempsey, to stifle rumors she might marry the former world's heavyweight champion.

Beside the actress when police found her in her apartment writhing in agony was a note addressed to "Jack." It read:

"I love you. Only you. I couldn't help it. I couldn't go on without you."

Physicians said her condition was critical.

The twice-married actress took a caustic poison after spending the evening with Hayes. She had been so despondent, Hayes said, that after leaving her at 11:30 he telephoned her when he reached home.

Hayes Phoned Her

"Are you all right?" Hayes said he asked.

"Sure I'm all right," he quoted Miss Basquette as replying. "I have just taken poison."

He said he rushed to the apartment and was so busy giving first aid treatment he couldn't open the door to let police in.

The police came in answer to an anonymous telephone call that a woman had taken poison. They broke in the door of the Hollywood apartment and found Miss Basquette writhing in agony on the divan.

She was taken to the Police Emergency hospital where first aid treatment was administered before she returned to her home under the care of her private physician. Police said it might be several days before she would be out of danger.

Police said an empty bottle was found on the bathroom floor.

Her Second Attempt

Miss Basquette attempted suicide once before. That was in 1930 after an unsuccessful effort to obtain custody of her child from Harry Warner, brother of her former husband, Sam Warner.

Following the death of Sam Warner, film producer, Miss Basquette married Peverell Marley, a cameraman. Divorce ended that union.

Hayes, to whom she had announced her engagement, had been at odds with Dempsey. Hayes and Dempsey exchanged words when the former reportedly accused the champion of having "stolen" Miss Basquette from him.

Of late the actress and dancer had been much in company with Dempsey who had announced he would star here in his Reno, Nevada, night club. A few days ago they returned from a brief vaudeville tour together, during which Miss Basquette was injured in a fall into the orchestra pit of an Oakland theater.

They were Bernadine Westkamp, 19, of Stoughton and Daisy Pynes, 22, of Springfield, both employed as housemaids. Their escorts, Edward George and Lee McVey of Springfield, told police they vainly attempted to pull them out of deep water into which they found their way. The youths were not held.

BROTHERS SHOT IN PITTSBURGH LIQUOR BATTLE

Three Volpe Brothers Shot Down In Heart Of City Today

Pittsburgh, July 29—(AP)—Three Volpe brothers—John Arthur and Johnnie—long political powers in the Borough of Wilmerding, was shot and killed in a gun battle here today.

The shooting, one of the most sensational in Pittsburgh's criminal history, occurred in a coffee shop in what is known as the "Hill District" not far from the center of the city.

Dapper Johnnie Volpe, shot in the heart, staggered from the coffee shop and fell dead in the gutter.

His two brothers hardly moved from their tracks. They were all dead when police reached the scene.

About a year ago, the Volpes, who have been implicated in liquor racketeering in Wilmerding, sought to extend their activities to Pittsburgh. The district in which they were "put on the spot" is in the heart of the new territory they invaded.

Crouched behind a counter of the coffee shop, police found Sam Zara. He babbled over and over again:

"I don't wanna be killed. I don't wanna be killed."

Police arrested him.

It was reported that five men walked into the restaurant and, without a word began shooting at the Volpes.

First reports were that another man and a woman had also been shot but no other bodies were found and the reports were not immediately verified or disproved.

A Catholic priest who was passing, heard the shots and administered Extreme Unction to Johnnie Volpe just before he gasped his last in the gutter.

ACTION IN THE FATAL BATTLE AT WASHINGTON

Police and members of the "Bonus Expeditionary Force" exchanging blows during the battle in Washington, D. C., that began when police attempted to evict some of the vets from government property. When the fight ended a veteran had been shot to death, another seriously wounded, a score on both sides injured, and President Hoover had troops on the way to the scene. This exceptional action picture was snapped by an NEA Service, Inc., cameraman in the thick of the fight and telephoned to the Evening Telegraph.

STRICKEN MAN HAD PLANNED BUYING A FARM

Moline Man Died While On Way To Inspect Franklin Land

Coroner Frank M. Banker impaneled a jury composed of F. D. Kelley, foreman, A. J. Stewart, Ed Hain, William Holly, William A. Gorman and Charles Hasenitz yesterday afternoon and conducted an inquest over the remains of Robert James Bailey of Moline at the Hicks funeral home in Franklin Grove, Mr. Bailey died very suddenly at 12:45 noon yesterday at the Maronde service station on the Lincoln Highway, just east of the limits of Franklin Grove. The jury returned a verdict finding that death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

The deceased, who resided at 2034 Fifteenth street, Moline, left his home Thursday morning about 9 o'clock in company with his son Harvey Bailey of Davenport, Iowa to drive to Franklin Grove, where he planned to visit Earl Buck. The elder Mr. Bailey was planning to purchase the farm on which the airport is located, south and east of Franklin Grove. He and his son ate lunch at the Gingham room at which they had a room repaired at the service station.

Health Seemed Good

The older man appeared to be in excellent spirits and was planning to return to his home, coming by way of Dixon, then south to Van Orin where he expected to visit a friend. It was while he was looking at the road map at the service station that he was stricken and died within a few minutes. A physician was summoned and the body removed to the Hicks funeral home, where the inquest was held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was then taken to his home in Moline, where funeral services will be conducted Monday with burial in the Memorial cemetery at Rock Island.

The deceased had been in the employ of an elevator manufacturing concern in Moline as stock room foreman for several years. He had been idle for some months and was planning to purchase a small farm in this vicinity and with his wife and son and family move to this county to reside.

Mrs. Conrad's bill alleged her husband had $3,000,000 and an annual income of $100,000 when they were married in Crown Point, Ind., in May, 1930.

SENECA BRIDGE BUILDERS PLEAD FOR PROTECTION

Fear New Outbreak Labor Trouble On Illinois River

Seneca, Ill., July 29—(AP)—Fearing a new outbreak of the labor rioting that took the life of one union organizer at Marseilles last week, counsel for the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron Company of Milwaukee appealed to Governor Louis L. Emmerson today for immediate protection of its workmen on an Illinois river bridge near here.

The company, operating under state contract, had refused to confer with union promoters and expressed apprehension of imminent violence.

A pitched battle between union and open shop workers on a government dam at the neighboring town of Marseilles July 19 cost one life and a dozen men were wounded. Since then work on the dam has been resumed with the workers unionized and attempts to organize workers on waterway projects all along the river from Joliet westward have gone forward rapidly.

Union pickets, among them the same Joliet organizers who participated in the Marseilles trouble, took up posts near the Seneca waterway bridge today and Sheriff E. J. Welter sent deputies to keep the peace.

J. E. Malone, Jr., of La Salle, attorney for the bridge and iron company, telegraphed Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, Adj. Gen. Carlos I. Black and Frank Sheets, State Highway Engineer, explaining the situation and asking the state to take immediate steps to protect the workmen, still operating on an open shop basis. Malone said his company would not deal with Tony Augustano, the Joliet union leader.

Palmyrans To Give Foodstuff To Pantry

The Palmyra Farm and Home Bureau Community Club will make its first collection of food stuffs for the Paul Parker Pantry at the Assembly Park hotel next Tuesday morning between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock, and it is expected the day will result in a big addition of material for canning at the Pantry, which at no time has been able to operate at full capacity because of a scarcity of donations of foodstuffs.

John Shaeffer, Chairman of the Palmyra unit, and County Farm Adviser C. E. Yale will be at the Sugar Grove church Tuesday morning to receive donations which may be delivered there, and farmers of the township are asked to give liberally of surplus corn, tomatoes, beans, carrots, fruit, etc., in order that the Pantry may be kept busy for several days putting up food which will be used to feed the needy next winter.

FEAR DISORDERS WILL BREAK OUT IN GERMAN POLL

Hitler's Nazi Troops Concentrate In Various Centers

Berlin, July 29—(AP)—Reports that National Socialist storm troops were concentrating in various provinces of Germany today caused considerable alarm in spite of official assurance that most complete measures have been taken to maintain peace and order during and after next Sunday's elections.

The reports said the Hitler storm troops apparently meant business. From various points in Pomerania, Mecklenburg and Silesia the news came that local Nazi organizations had received orders to stand by.

There was no precise indication as to the purpose of the concentration except that they were instructed to provide themselves with three days rations and sleeping equipment.

Motor Trucks Ready

Motor trucks sufficient to convey large bodies of men also were reported held in readiness at strategic points throughout the country and all leaves of absence of the storm troops' staff men were cancelled.

It was recalled that a similar mobilization of the Nazi forces was ordered just before the presidential elections two months ago when there was a "march on Berlin." Nothing happened, however, and the Nazi leaders explained afterwards that their purpose was to keep their hot-headed young braves off the streets and avoid trouble.

Deny Violent Plans

Hitler and other Nazi leaders have given the von Papen government assurances they are planning no violent action, but anti-Nazi quarters said the possibility remains that some sectional hotspur might break away and start a "putsch" on his own account if the election failed to bring victory to Hitler.

Nazi leaders, it was suggested, could disclaim direct responsibility for any such outbreak while reaping the fruits of it.

The Socialist newspaper Vorwarts said it was in possession of documents showing the Nazi organizations are under a state of "complete preparedness" with orders for election day completely outlined.

BEAUTY SEEN IS NEVER LOST—

BEAUTY seen is never lost, God's colors all are fast; The glory of that sunset heaven Into my soul has passed.

Wherefore—

Let there be many windows in your soul.

That all the glory of the universe May beautify it... Tune your ear To all the wordless music of the stars

And to the voice of nature, and your heart

Shall be enlarged and gladdened. Unseen hands

Shall speed to help you from their peace-crowded heights,

And all the forces of the firmament Shall stoop to make you strong.

Galveston, Tex. (AP)—"Personality" and not pulchritude must be the chief asset of the winner of Galveston's annual bathing beauty show this year.

"They used to select the 'beauty queen of the universe' and had entries from a over the world.

This time, on August 6 and 7, they will select "Miss Personality" and girls from only the states of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma will compete.

"It has been our experience," says Manager George Mitchev, "that very few girls have what might be termed perfect forms.

"The judging, then, will be based upon personality, beauty, grace and form. Personality cover a wide range of qualifications, and our interpretation of the word includes character and intelligence."

Some Cool Ideas For Summer Menus

Parties during the summer call for a light and cool touch in menu and table decorations. Fortunately there are innumerable jellied and frozen dishes, crisp cool salads and iced beverages that are easy to prepare and delightful to serve.

Luncheon or afternoon tea demands something out-of-the-ordinary and interesting but not fussy or pretentious. Perfection and not laboration might be the slogan for the refreshments.

For luncheon, jellied bouillon or a chilled fruit soup, salad and dessert with a drink of some kind make a refreshing and satisfying menu.

For tea, a salad with sandwiches and a beverage leaves little to be desired. The salad which does double duty as both salad and dessert is particularly alluring for the summer luncheon or tea. It simplifies serving, an item always worth considering, and has a more cooling effect than a sweet dessert.

A dessert salad is at its best jellied or frozen. Either of these forms is attractive. A variation of the frozen salad uses a frozen dressing. This is particularly desirable when a large number of persons must be served. A pear or peach stuffed with a frozen cheese dressing is delicious and festive. Tomatoes stuffed with a piquant frozen cheese are rather unusual and very good.

Jellied and frozen salads must be made hours before wanted and are all ready for serving when the guests arrive with almost no extra work. They may be chilled or frozen in a mechanical refrigerator without any labor or they can be packed in ice and salt and frozen without stirring.

Canned Fruits Freeze Best
If you want to use fruits in a frozen mixture, you will find that canned fruits are better adapted to freezing than fresh ones. If fresh ones are used, it's a good idea to let them stand in a heavy syrup for several hours before freezing. This tends to prevent them from becoming icy when frozen.

Although the most successful salads have salad dressings folded in before molding and chilling or freezing, as the case may be, salad dressing also is used as a garnish when the salad is arranged for serving. The perfect salad is pleasingly tart.

There is almost no limit to the combinations of fruits to be used in dessert salads. One of the most delicious is red raspberry and peach with cheese balls. This combination can be used frozen or jellied. If a jellied salad is wanted, increase the amount of gelatin given in the recipe to two tablespoons.

Salad Melba
One quart red raspberries, 2 cups diced peaches, 2 teaspoons granulated gelatine, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1-2 cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 package Philadelphia cream cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, salted almonds. Crush berries and extract juice. Pour 1 cup water through crushed berries. Soften gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add to berry juice with lemon juice and a little sugar if necessary. When mixture begins to stiffen, pare and dice peaches. Add at once to jelly with mayonnaise and cream whipped until firm. Fold lightly to mix ingredients and turn into mold. Pack in eight parts ice to one part cream salt and let stand three hours or longer. Combine cheese and butter, working with a fork until smooth. Make into tiny flat cakes about the size of a quarter an stick pointed ends of almonds into each cake, daisy fashion, making the almonds the petals, and the cheese the center. Serve the salad on crisp chilled lettuce with a garnish of mayonnaise and a "daisy."

Frozen Cheese
One-half cup or two cakes Philadelphia cream cheese, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons minced maraschino cherries or preserved ginger or crushed pineapple, 6 halves of fruit such as peaches or pears.

There is a cream cheese prepared with crushed pineapple that is convenient to use. This mixture is especially good with apricots. Preserved ginger combines with pears and maraschino cherries with peaches. If the mixture is to be used with tomatoes, pineapple is a good choice.

Work cheese and minced fruit with a fork until smooth. Fold in cream whipped until firm and seasoned with salt. Pack in six parts ice to one part ice cream salt, or freeze in drawer of automatic refrigerator. Cut in squares or scoop out in balls and serve in half of fruit with French dressing poured over the whole.

He would be stolid indeed who failed to get an emotional jar out of the news that for the first time in history more people are leaving America than are arriving. The answer, of course, is obvious—hard times. The land of promise doesn't gleam quite as brightly as it used to, and as a result the number of immigrants to the United States is only about one-third the number of emigrants. This condition, beyond any doubt, is only temporary. Yet it does bring to a full stop one of the most amazing movements of people in the story of mankind—the movement that began before the 18th century was over and that ended just the other day.

Even though we have seen and read about this movement since we were children, we don't always appreciate its magnitude.

Consider the bare facts. At the time Washington began his first term as president, what is now the United States contained perhaps five million people—counting all the Indians, the Spanish and French at New Orleans and the Spanish and Mexicans in the southwest and along the west coast.

Today it contains upward of 120,000,000. In less than a century and a half an almost empty continent has been filled up—filled up so thoroughly, indeed, that now there is no room in it for ambitious immigrants from beyond the seas. The world's most dazzling era of expansion is over at last. The last moments of the pioneer period are finished.

In the next few decades this change is going to have profound effects on every aspect of national life. The days of easy money, boom times ever-new opportunities are done for. Life is going to be less fluid, class lines are going to harden, the path from the log cabin to the great mansion is going to become a little more difficult to travel.

But those are things for the economist, the sociologist and the historian to discuss. At the moment we can get only the emotional side of it. A period in history has come to a close. The people of the United States are beginning a new day.

THE WAR ON ILLITERACY

The Census Bureau has revealed that on April 1, 1930, the United States contained 4,283,753 illiterates—just 4.3 per cent of the 98,723,753 inhabitants of the nation who were ten years of age or older on that date.

At first blush this seems to be a dismayingly large number, and the record looks like a disgraceful blot on the nation's record. But there is comfort to be got by examining the figures in detail.

To begin with, the percentage of illiteracy has been steadily decreasing for four decades. In 1890, 13.3 per cent of the population was illiterate; in 1900 the percentage was 10.7, in 1910 it was 7.7 and in 1920 it was an even 6. If the percentage is higher than it might be, it is at least dwindling at a fairly rapid rate.

In addition, the bulk of our 4,000,000-odd illiterates are getting on in years. Only 420,528 of them were under 21. Considering all these facts, it is clear that the war on illiteracy is making very good progress.

I know that any contention that the Republican administered treasury has financed Democratic campaign funds through tax refunds is absurd. But it is no more absurd than the claim that by the same means it has financed Republican campaigns.—Congressman Bertrand N. Snell of New York, Republican leader of the House.

Feeding the hungry, supplying the partial needs of those who are in distress, meeting the minimum relief requirements day by day of millions of people and those dependent upon them offers no solution for the nation's economic ills.—William Green, president American Federation of Labor.

One might well draw the conclusion that there was no courage nor magnanimity left in the world.—Owen D. Young, industrialist and financier.

I don't believe in married people using any "Thou shalt nots" in their code, but I think we should be reasonable and tolerant of the others' desires.—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, trans-Atlantic flyer.

Almost everything that we have done in America in education, and especially in higher education, has been wrong. Recently I looked up the educational record of several hundred of those financiers who have ruined others in the past few years. Most of them were either college graduates or the recipients of honorary degrees.—Professor Walter B. Pitkin of Columbia University.

What people want really is pictures and plays with old-fashioned happy endings.—Mae Murray, stage and screen actress.

No man who ever sat in the White House has been more devoted to the public than Herbert Hoover.—Sen. Reed Smoot of Utah.

FEW MACHINES TO BE USED IN
U. S. ROAD WORKAll Work Possible To Be Done By Men In Highway Program

Washington, July 29 (AP)—Men, not machines, are to be favored for jobs resulting from the new $120,000,000 in federal highway aid.

And these workers—skilled and unskilled alike—must be employed on a 30-hour week basis and paid salaries specified in contracts between the government and those who undertake the road construction. So specifies the law. The Bureau of Public Roads is ready to speed the expenditure of many millions next month out of the money made available under the new relief law. First Secretary Hyde must prepare regulations to carry out the congressional mandate of "the maximum employment of local labor consistent with real economy of construction."

Under this proviso the progress of machinery in forcing out hand labor will be curtailed.

Machines will not be banished by any means, but it will be up to the state highway departments with the cooperation of the federal supervising engineer, to determine what work can be done reasonably by hand. There is latitude for differing opinions.

Despite the increased expense of construction under these provisions, it was said this would be offset by lower material costs and involve no greater construction outlays than last year.

No applications have been received yet for the new funds, but officials believe the entire $120,000,000 will be demanded.

DAILY HEALTH

"There are a great many articles that today are sold on the health urge. Scan the advertisements in any magazine and it will be noted that many things are offered for sale because of the alleged benefit to health involved in their use. No article has in this connection been more widely, and incidentally, successfully exploited than toothpaste," states Dr. L. W. Neber, Superintendent of the State Health Department's dental section, today.

"However, it must be understood that toothpaste is neither a medicine nor a tonic. It will have performed its entire function when it has cleansed the teeth. One has no right to expect or demand more of this essential aid to mouth hygiene. Extraneous claims are not supported by the facts. Moreover, if toothpastes contained other than cleansing constituents, in all probability they would harm rather than do good to the teeth.

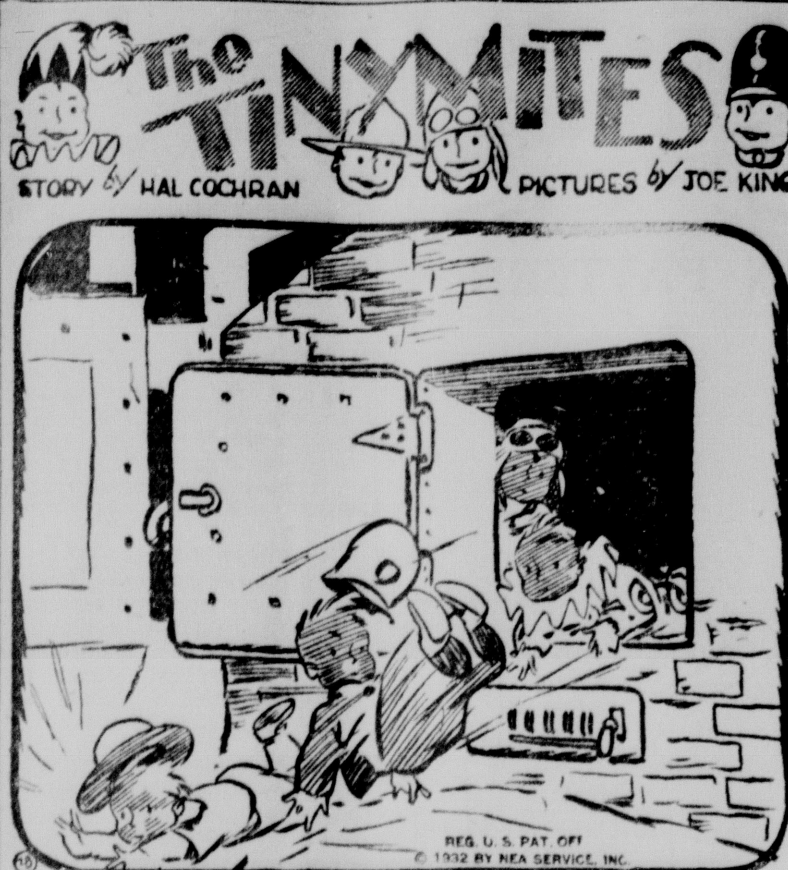

"When one has eliminated the use of any product of this character which might scratch and thus damage the enamel of the teeth, the matter resolves itself almost literally to a matter of taste and proper use.

"It can truthfully be said that the major—of toothpastes on the market are perfectly safe to use and equally effective as cleansing agents. But it can also be remarked that all toothpastes and powders can fall far short of fulfilling their destiny because the ulcer is slipping.

BAREFOOT DAYS
Summer is the time for going about barefoot and in consequence for suffering a variety of injuries to the feet.

It is curious to note that among many peoples and in the pseudoscience of naturopathy barefoot walking is considered as possessing special health virtue.

Walking barefoot on grass when

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Oh, gee, I wonder where we are," said Duncy. "We have traveled far. Perhaps we're in a real strange land and in somebody's house."

"That sliding down the chimney was a very funny thing because we all got black. Let's look around. Be quiet as a mouse."

Then Scouty said, "Well, as for me, I'm going to look until I see some water where we all can bathe. The soot gets in my eyes."

"I hope our clothes will wash all right. If not, we'll always look a sight. We get into the strangest places underneath the skies."

They crawled out of the big fireplace and Cappy laughed. "Look at my face. I just peered in a mirror. I am like a minstrel lad."

"The soot, I've found, will not come loose. Don't try to brush it. It's no use. I have to laugh to think of the experience we have had."

"You'd better save your laughter till we find out if another thrill shod and careless in his application of the m."

"Perhaps it will be disappointing to some to learn that a fifty percent salt solution or a bit of ordinary baking soda on the brush is just about as efficient a cleanser as can be obtained. However, it is much pleasanter and quite as well to employ the nice tasting and nice smelling pastes and powders offered for sale by the many concerns manufacturing such products."

"Therefore, choose your paste or powder on the basis of the appearance of the container and the taste of its contents, if you feel inclined to do so. But let intelligent and conscientious application be the daily rule. Thus give your favorite toothpaste or powder a chance to render a real service. It cannot be obtained otherwise."

On the other hand, barefoot walking has also its disadvantages. The old Persian saying that "he who wears shoes finds the world carpeted with leather," points to the fact that the civilized man prefers artificial flooring to that indifferently supplied by nature.

Cuts and bruises are the outstanding hazard to which the barefoot walker is exposed.

These injuries require prompt and efficient treatment; for few minor injuries can prove as disabling as those suffered by the foot.

It is imperative that all cuts and bruises of the feet should be cleansed with soap and water and treated with a dependable antiseptic. A protective bandage should be applied.

Special attention should be paid to puncture wounds. A puncture wound is one made by a penetrating object.

Fre bleeding is usually not common in such wounds and hence whatever dirt and infectious material gains entrance may not be easily reached and cleaned out.

The danger of the puncture wound comes from the tetanus germ and the danger is particularly marked when the wound becomes soiled with soil dirt, especially that about farms, stables, and barns.

A puncture wound requires prompt medical attention.

Tomorrow—Beach Hazards.

RADIO RIALTO

TO HONOR SOUSA

New York—A musical tribute to John Philip Sousa, will be paid by Edwin Franko Goldman, the new March King of America, during a broadcast over NBC-WEAF networks on Wednesday, August 3, when a program of Sousa marches will be presented at 8:30 P. M. E. D.S.T. from the Mail in Central Park to coast-to-coast listeners.

A baton, once wielded by the late bandmaster will be presented to Goldman by Mrs. Sousa at the broadcast. The bandmaster will make a brief response and while Chopin's Funeral March is played, the audience will stand in respect to Sousa.

The program will be as follows:

1. Semper Fidelis.....Sousa
2. (a) King Cotton.....Sousa
3. (b) El Capitan.....Sousa
4. The High School Cadets.....Sousa
5. Washington Post.....Sousa
6. Stars and Stripes Forever.....Sousa
7. Overture in Spring.....Goldmark
8. Zerkow, the Priest.....Handel
9. Bolero.....Ravel
10. Wedding Sounds.....Joseph Strauss
11. Second Hungarian Rhapsody.....Liszt

The program will be thirty minutes in length.

Sousa died last March, the day before he was to have conducted his usual NBC program from New York. He was long a friend of Goldman's.

The marches which Goldman will play in memory of the late March King are some of his best known works. "Semper Fidelis" was especially written for the Marine Corps in 1885 while he was conductor of the United States Marine Band. The other Sousa marches were written for special occasions throughout the bandmaster's long career.

THAT cities shape their future by what they do today.

A city must advertise the same as any business. It must keep telling what it has and where it is.

A city must sell its opportunities and extend a welcoming hand to the world.

A city that gets the advertising grows.

A city that goes after home and outside business gets it. If they don't some neighboring city will get the business they should get.

Cities that live on the food memories of the past are dead ones.

Cities that live in the present and build for the future are live ones.

Everybody wants a live city to live in. No one wants a dead one to die in.

An ideal city is where no one knocks but opportunity.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let nothing be done through strife or vain glory; but lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than ourselves. Philippians 2:3

Common sense is in spite of not the result of, education.—Victor Hugo.

You can't afford to be without the Dixon Telegraph's accident insurance. $1.25 will pay the premium for one year on a $1,000 policy.

Life insurance is a business that touches life at more points than any other economic enterprise, it was pointed out by speakers. The life insurance dollar supports the fundamental economic needs of American life. Life insurance purchasers of today are those who are convinced that such insurance will keep complete the purposes of their lives. One of the major cravings of humanity is for security, and the life underwriter is in a position to satisfy that craving.—Adv.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Life's highest joy belong to him who stands after a struggle, on some spiritual summit and looks first down upon the valley from whence he has ascended, and then up to some higher peak which shall become tomorrow's goal.

—H. B. Oborn

Aspirations, worthy ambition, desires for higher good for good ends, all these indicate a soul that recognizes the beckoning hand of the good Father, who would call us homeward toward Himself.

—J. G. Holland

Do what lieth in thy power and God will assist thy good will. Trust not in thine own knowledge nor in the skill of any living creature, but rather in the grace of God, who helpeth the humble.

—Thomas A. Kempis

Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed. Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart. Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass. And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light and thy judgment as the noonday.

—Psalm 37

God is able to raise the mortal who has seemed to fall under the weight of traditional evil. Every quality of divine mind is represented in the real man, and is available to one who turns wholeheartedly to divine Mind and is honestly determined to abandon the old standards of thought and action which formerly deceived him. The straight way to heaven is to "acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace." Acquaintance with God is the only way to know God knows him; and this true knowing, demonstrated, is true being.

3000 HEARD DR. PAUL RADER AT ASSEMBLY PARK

Famous Evangelist In Pledge To Help Care For Local Needy

About three thousand people were in attendance last night at Rader tabernacle in Assembly park to hear Paul Rader.

The crowd gathered early and at 7:30 Ralph Rader, secretary of all extension work of the world wide Rader program, and Miss Dorothy Kunzman the "girl preacher" from the Pacific coast, conducted a spirited song service. The Rader brothers, Paul and Ralph, sang a duet and Miss Kunzman sang a solo.

Mr. Rader then outlined his "Food and Fortitude" vision and plans to feed hundreds of thousands of families of unemployed this winter. He emphasized the work that is now going on at the Assembly Park hotel kitchen, canning fruits and vegetables, and later on meats, for the unemployed in this immediate community.

Paul Rader pledged to solve the hunger problem for Dixon and community this coming winter, emphasizing the necessity of local cooperation. He said in part, "We will furnish the idea, and steam pressure cookers, the cans, the workshop, the facilities, and the technically trained supervision in the art of home economics. The job of this community is to furnish the volunteer workers for the actual canning, and the rural communities to furnish the vegetables and fruits." Mr. Rader further urged the farmers and truck farmers to bring their surplus canning commodities to Dixon or phone 183. Miss Dorothy Kunzman, who is conducting a three week's evangelistic campaign here will speak tonight.

Doors always open, song service to begin at 7:45, conducted by Miss Kunzman augmented by her trombone.

You can't afford to be without the Dixon Telegraph's accident insurance. $1.25 will pay the premium for one year on a $1,000 policy.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. D. SHAFFER
(Contributed)

In the early evening as the shadows were lengthening, and the twilight darkness was gathering, Mrs. A. D. Shaffer fell asleep in her home at six o'clock Friday evening, July 22, 1932. With silent foot tread the day departed, and with it the gallant spirit of the deceased which winned its way to that land where the sun goeth not down. It was an unexpected but triumphant ascension to Our Father's Home where her spirit now rests in celestial joy.

Grace T. Senneff was born December 12, 1882 in Grundy Co., Iowa, and was privileged with the culture of a Christian, country home, where church and school were given due esteem. As a child she professed a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ and joined the Evangelical church. She completed her high school work at Chadwick, Ill., and thereafter studied several years at Western Union College, Le Mars, Iowa. Thus she grew to womanhood well qualified for distinct Christian service.

June 20, 1906, she was happily married to Rev. Allington D. Shaffer, then a young minister serving his first appointment at Westerville, Illinois, and joining fortunes with him, she became the capable helpmate and counselor to her preacher-husband. Together these two hearts as one wrought in the interests of the Kingdom these twenty-six years, devoted and faithful to one another and to God until His Hand dissolved the union and the light of her day dimmed. Westerville, Stockton, Chadwick, Sterling, Rockford, Shannon and now Dixon were the fields they served with success. At each of these they left many friends. As a pastor's aid she was intelligent and studious; she was unusually well acquainted with the program of the church and lent a quick mind and able hand to carry it through. She found delight in the Women's Missionary Society activities, and for a number of years served as the district organizer of Freeport District. Her sympathetic, kindly disposition made her loved by children and adolescents. A Sunday school class of growing boys prompted her devout attention which was repaid by genuine loyalty and admiration from the boys. Of a companionable, lively spirit, the young people loved her, and she served effectively as advisor to the Young People's Missionary Circle. All who knew her will cherish precious memories of her boundless energy, unselfish devotion, and indefatigable service which sometimes carried her beyond her physical powers to endure. As her heart warmed to the urgent and ever present needs she gave herself unsparringly. In the parsonage home she directed with motherly dignity, love and prayer.

Thus is the midst of a busy, consecrated life with many ambitions for the furtherance of the Kingdom still unattained this Christian worker following the summons of a Knowing Providence has trustfully surrendered her talents, folded her arms, and gone to the eternal and blessed rest of them that love the Lord. And verily, her works shall follow her. This abrupt summons of the Lord leaves us bewildered and perplexed; still we cannot but trust the Good Shepherd whose design assures us that all things work together for good to them that love the Lord.

Besides the bereft husband, Mrs. Shaffer leaves one son, Everett D. Shaffer, an aged mother, Mrs. Sadie Senneff, one sister, Miss Bertha Senneff, and two brothers Earl Senneff of San Francisco, Calif., and George Senneff of Moline, Ill. Many other more distant relatives and friends shall miss her.

"Only good night, beloved, and not farewell,
A little while and all His Saints shall dwell
In hallowed union indivisible;
Good night,
"Until we meet again, before
His Throne,
Clothed in the spotless robe He gives His own,
Until we know even as we are known;
Good Night."

The funeral services were in charge of the District Superintendent, Rev. J. G. Eller, Freeport who paid tribute to her life and preached the sermon. Appropriate music was effectively presented by members of the Dixon congregation. Dr. Walters, Lutheran minister and president of the Dixon Ministers Council conveyed condolences to the bereaved from that body. In the service Rev. J. G. Eller was assisted by Rev. A. J. Byas, Naperville, Ill.; S. C. Boswell, Shannon, Ill.; G. H. Wykle, Geneseo, Ill.; Ministerial comrades of Rev. A. D. Shaffer acted as pall bearers: Rev. N. H. Willison; J. R. Widmer; S. G. Eberly; J. W. Bishoff; I. D. Stehr and J. L. Lobaugh.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

AMERICANS STORM SERGY

On July 29, 1918, American troops in the Marne sector continued their victorious drive across the Ourcq river, storming Serpy, Ronchères and Serings-et-Nestle. The little village of Serpy changed hands several times, but was finally held by the onrushing Americans.

French forces also reported new victories for the day. Cugny and Grand Rozy were taken by storm

Australian troops in Picardy resumed the offensive on a two-mile front and advanced more than 500 yards.

Announcement from Russia stated that the Don Cossacks had signed a treaty with the Cossacks of the Astrakhan districts promising mutual assistance in the annexation of territory which they regarded as essential to their well-being.

Holds Income Of Road Is Too Much

Washington, July 28—(AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner today recommended that the much litigated St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway valuation case be ended with a decision that the railroad had an income of $590,550 in excess of a fair return from 1920 through 1927.

The report by examiner P. A. Conway, which still must be passed on by the commission, would require the railroad to turn over $235,275 under the recapture clause of the Transportation Act.

He recommended that the commission find that the Manufacturers Railway, a subsidiary of the O'Fallon, did not have any recapturable income.

The St. Louis & O'Fallon, was the first excess income case carried to completion by the Commission. Several years ago it directed the O'Fallon to pay into the United States Treasury half of its excess income.

The company took the case to the Supreme Court. The Commission was overruled because the court had not considered replacement values for the line.

The case was of vital importance to railroads because it was intended to determine the method of valuation upon which the rate of income would be based.

A BOOK A DAY

Charlie Chan, the detective from Honolulu, comes to the main land for his assignment in "Keeper of the Keys." Earl Derr Biggers' latest mystery story.

He is called to a house on Lake Tahoe in the Sierras, where the four ex-husbands of a grand opera star are gathered together in order that one of them may find out what the opera star has done with the child she bore him two decades before.

While they are there the opera star herself drops in on them—and if you are a seasoned detective story hound you know as soon as she enters that she is about to get bumped off. You are, of course quite right. She gets shot and Charlie Chan proceeds to find out who did it. I suggest that you keep your eyes on Dr. Swan who was husband No. 3, and on Sing, the ancient Chinese butler.

"Keeper of the Keys" is Grade A stuff throughout. It sells for $2. Mystery fans will also want to know about "Shudders and Thrills" an omnibus volume of E. Phillips Oppenheim's puzzles. It contains two full-length novels—"The Evil Shepherd" and "Ghosts of Society"—and three groups of connected short stories, and it ought to keep you sitting up nights for a couple of weeks.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—"Cactus Jack" Garner, with a chance to be elected to two high offices on November 4—a seat in the House with a probable continued reign as Speaker, and the vice presidency of the United States—would not exactly be breaking any precedents in one-man cornering of the high office market.

Joe Robinson of Arkansas already boasts of a record perhaps equal to such a feat. Robinson, within the short space of two weeks, shifted office three times, and each shift was upward.

On January 4, 1913, he resigned his seat in the House to be inaugurated two days later as the Governor of Arkansas. On January 28 of that year he began to forget about being Governor, for he had been elected United States Senator.

Then there's Hiram Bingham of Connecticut. On November 4, 1924, he was elected governor of his state. On December 16 of the same year he was elevated to the United States Senate.

The same was true of Huey P. Long. The irrepressible Louisiana "kingfish" was serving as Governor when he was elected to the Senate, and refused to come to Washington for a long while.

But the fact that Garner may "sew up" one job and at the same time be seeking another doubtless excites the envy of his old cronies in the House who haven't been able to hold on to one even.

How he does it, during these times when it seems the sentiment in the country runs against the man who has the job in favor of somebody else who wants it, is a little beyond them.

Several of his friends in the House have been there almost as long as he. But after March 4 they must look for other means of making a living. They have been kicked out even before the actual campaigning gets underway. Primaries already held have moved them down in the selling fashion.

At this writing it is certain that one-eighth of those who answered the roll call at the last session of Congress will be missing when the 73rd rolls around.

Respectfully yours,
G. H. W.

CASUALTIES ARE HEAVY—Surveying the list of casualties so far, one finds among them men who have labored long and hard—many of them considered the backbone of the House.

There's Hawley of Oregon, who has been in Congress for 26 years, one-time Chairman of Ways and Means, an expert on fiscal legislation.

Ramseyer of Iowa is another. During the 18 years he has been "in," the tall, gray-haired Swiss Congressman has become one of the most adept lawmakers in the House.

There's Chinnibell of Illinois, for 14 years a Congressman, another G. O. P. stalwart, Nelson of Wisconsin, in and out of Congress for 26 years, has had his district merged with another.

These are only a few of those out even now. When the roll is called next March 4 there'll be many more old faces missing—from 150 to 175 of them, in the opinion of veteran political observers.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

DEFENDS ROOSEVELT

Dixon Evening Telegraph.
Editor:
The writer of the article on Gov. Roosevelt, reprinted from the Los Angeles Times, in your issue of July 25th displays a naïveté which is hardly consonant with his profession. Despite the well-known fact that it is impossible for a man to attain high office in our government without resorting to practical politics, he implies that any vacillation in political matters marks a man as a weakling and as unfit for office.

Either deliberate unfairness or ignorance of our history must be held responsible for his delusion. The following incidents will serve to illustrate the ingenuousness of his point of view:

In February 1896 Theodore Roosevelt, whatever his faults, he can hardly be called a weakling) complained of the "absolutely cynical disregard of decency" which Platt, the New York State Republican boss and candidate for the senate, had exhibited. However, in order to obtain Platt's endorsement—which was necessary for Roosevelt to be chosen Assistant Secretary of the Navy—Roosevelt attended a harmony dinner at which it was agreed that Platt could have the New York senatorship.

In 1860, a day before the convention, Seward had a larger number of delegates wishing to nominate him than did Abraham Lincoln. However, Indiana and Pennsylvania, pledged to Caleb Smith and Simon Cameron, held the balance of power. David Davis of Illinois, later a Justice of the Supreme Court, then acting as Lincoln's manager, promised Cabinet positions to Smith and Cameron in the event of Lincoln's election. Having no chance of the nomination themselves, these men cast their votes for Lincoln on a second ballot.

According to the historian G. Rhodes, Lincoln had no knowledge of these agreements. It is, however, an interesting coincidence that Cameron got the War Department and Smith got the Interior Department Cabinet positions. One might also add that Cameron was merely a political boss and utterly unfit for the position and proved to be one of the most incompetent Secretaries of War the nation has had.

Grover Cleveland, when candidate for President in 1894, was bitterly criticized because when he served as Governor of New York State he failed to remove from office a Tammany Sheriff of New York against whom ostensibly well founded charges had been brought.

In many other instances these three men, who were probably the strongest Presidents we have had since 1836 demonstrated little reluctance to descend into the sewers of practical politics. One might almost say that therein lay their strength.

If Governor Franklin Roosevelt is to be attacked, let us get on firmer ground.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, goes with her childhood sweetheart, STEVE SACCARELLI, to a popular supper resort, the Halcyon Club. Mona lives on Third Avenue, supports her invalid father, mother, little sister, KITTY, and never-does-well brother, BUD.

Steve has been mysteriously absent from New York for three years. Now he appears, well dressed and prosperous. With no thought of impropriety he has ordered a gown and wrap sent to Mona which, after much indecision, she decides to wear.

At the office that day Mona has met BARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent, but refused to dine with him.

LOTTE CARR, a fashion model and friend of Mona's, is at the Halcyon Club. She and her escort join Mona and Steve.

Bud Moran comes to the supper club to see HUCK HARKINS, the proprietor, who has underworld connections. Mona sees her brother and is frightened, fearing Bud is associating with gangsters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

THE dance ended as it had been threatening to do for several ears. It died away in a long, low wail of the violin as the violinist stood alone in the spotlight, eyes closed, shoulders swaying with the melody. Several couples, flushed and enjoying their own skill, danced on oblivious to the music's ending.

Steve and Mona left the floor and returned to their table. Mona's eyes were troubled but Steve's reassuring words rang in her ears. "I'll look out for Bud." In some way or other Mona knew that Steve would keep his word.

"I'll forget it," she thought to herself. "I won't spoil Steve's evening. Only I do hope it wasn't Bud I saw!" It had been Bud, the girl's heart told her. She was sure of that. Her problem would have to be solved from that point.

"Steve will take care of everything," Mona argued with herself determinedly. Suddenly she found herself laughing. Their table was occupied.

Lottie, a vision in delicate pink chiffon, her carefully scalloped golden hair filling her head like a metallic cap, was seated there alone. Blue eyes, wide and ingenuous, gave Lottie's delicately powdered face a look of startling innocence.

It seemed that her escort had made an abrupt departure. Lottie explained that he had been crabbing all evening. He had not been in the least entertaining and suddenly he had wanted Lottie to go somewhere else and hear the sad story of his life.

"Can you imagine it?" she demanded. "When there is so much fun right here! Oh, well, you know these college boys!"

"My dear, I know you," was Mona's inward thought. "Steve looks rather good to you—now that he has money!"

Lottie apparently thought so, too.

Mona, looking up, met the young man's eyes directly. Then she recognized him.

But Mona did not say all this. She reproached herself even for the thoughts, so derogatory to her friend. After all, Lottie was a friend and a true one.

Mona aroused herself from her meditations to hear Lottie treading on rather tactless territory. She was scolding Steve for not letting her know of his intended return to the metropolis.

"I'd have met you at Grand Central with a band!" she assured him.

MONA's face whitened. That remark could have but one connotation. Lottie's tone, the way she laughed over the words "Grand Central" was filled with innuendo. By Grand Central she meant that Steve had come from Sing Sing.

But Steve was not to be disturbed. He answered easily, "I didn't arrive at Grand Central station. My boat docked in Brooklyn early one Sunday morning while you were probably at church."

"So you're just a vagabond traveler!"

"Lottie, do hush!" Mona began. Lottie knew perfectly well that she was misbehaving. It was bad enough inviting herself to join them but to talk to Steve about—well, things that certainly weren't true—was the limit!

Lottie apparently thought so, too.

She changed the subject abruptly. "Do you mind if I stay a while?" she asked quietly. "Just for a dance or two? Then I'll go home."

"Glad to have you," Steve assured her. "I'm expecting a friend any minute now. We'll be a four-some."

"A friend!" Lottie exclaimed. "You wouldn't fool me, would you? Then I'll stay! I didn't work today," Lottie went on. "I mean not at the shop. I modeled at the Fashion Show. 'Pigskin's Perfect Blend!' Yes, really. Last year I was Pigskin's Dashing Brunet!"

Chanel. Oh, well, I aim to please! "Where did you meet your friend, Mr. Parker?" Mona asked. The new escort was a hitherto unknown Mona had neither seen nor heard of him before.

"At the Fashion Show," Lottie told them. "He was holding a dog for his mother. I had met him once before, so of course I had to promise him a dinner date."

MONA and Steve exchanged glances. That meant that Lottie had actually been absent from Pigskin's during Steve's call and therefore knew nothing of the transaction.

Apparently Lottie had not recognized the gown. In this, however, Mona was wrong. Lottie had recognized it.

nized it, but loyalty to her friend made her conceal the fact.

Another dance began. Its sinuous melody wound about the smoke blue, perfumed room intriguingly. Lottie raised her elbows shoulder high, her fingers pointed inward, wriggling in time with the music. She rolled her eyes toward Steve without any particular meaning behind her frolicsome gaze. She hummed and swayed, singing beneath her breath so that the words were barely audible. There was a challenging twinkle in Lottie's eye.

"Why don't you two dance?" Mona was about to suggest since Steve was failing completely to take his cue. At that moment Lottie began to improvise more daringly. Lottie was clever at such tricks but Mona was annoyed.

The amateur entertainer was, however, drowned out abruptly by a sudden change in the music. The lights dimmed and remained lower. Suddenly they turned a dazzling blue. The master of ceremonies, professionally alert and eager, sprang to the center of the floor.

Then into the cleared space the chorus came dancing. Girls, beautifully formed, frantically costumed, their exquisite skins gleaming. Bodies swayed and dainty feet moved in unison through the difficult routine. The floor show had begun.

One girl stepped out from the group and began to sing. The swaying, bobbing chorus formed a picturesque background.

FROM a nearby table two women hastily gathered their wraps about them and arose to go. Their escorts followed with ill-concealed chagrin.

"Ladies shocked?" asked Steve. "Gentlemen not behaving well," Lottie conceded demurely.

"The song came to an end. Singers and chorus girls scampered from the room to don feathered finery for the "Rascal" number. The lights flickered, faded, rose again in colors and swirled over the room, casting shadows over those who remained in their seats.

"You and Lottie dance," Mona suggested, turning toward Steve. But the young man did not answer. He was looking past Lottie, a weak coming grin lighting his brown face. Steve rose and Mona saw a suavely dressed young man with neat blond hair and brown eyes approaching their table. The stranger's smile answered Steve's.

"Sorry to be late, Steve. I couldn't make it earlier."

A black coated figure inserted itself between Mona and Lottie. Steve grasped the newcomer's hand heartily. Introductions began.

"Miss—er, what is your name, Lottie? Oh, yes, Miss Carr! And Miss Moran—"

It was Steve's partner who had joined them. Mona, looking up, met the young man's eyes directly. And then she recognized him. Barry Townsend.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today — Elimination of Don Moe, 1930 Walker Cup team star and 1931 Western Amateur champion, proved the most surprising feature of the qualifying tests for the National Amateur golf championships. Moe scored 146 in the 36-hole test, but was beaten to the northwest coast eligible places by three other players.

Five Years Ago Today — A brass band, an Atlanta delegation of several hundred, and thousands of New Yorkers turned out to welcome back Bobby Jones from his trip to Scotland, where he successfully defended his British Open golf title.

Ten Years Ago Today — The Western Intercollegiate Conference, or Big Ten, appointed Major John L. Griffith of Champaign to the post of Commissioner of Athletics for the entire conference.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

This hasn't been a bad season for the sob sisters at all. There have been several dismal pictures for the tear-jerkers to weep and wail about.

Perhaps the picture of Rogers Hornsby trying to play third base stood out as one of the major tragedies. His home-town fans gave the old Rajah a royal salvo of razberries as the ancient one dragged his creaking legs around the diamond recently. One of the hardest fighting ball players the game has ever seen knew that that wave of strident jeers marked the end of his great career.

A CRUSHING BURDEN

The defeat of Equipoise offered an opportunity for a sobbing festival. The great four-year-old, carrying the cruel weight of 134 pounds, forcing to shoulder his burden through an 8 1-2 minute delay at the post, fighting vainly to pass the pleasantly-weighted Plucky Play in the stretch, was another sad picture.

THE OLD GENTS—John McGraw, III, watching his Giants founder under the direction of Bill Terry, is a golden chance the boys with the somber vocabularies can't very well pass up. Grim-faced old Oriole, sitting back in the cold shadows—and all that!

And, for that matter, how about Uncle Wilbert Robinson, pushed off the bench at Brooklyn, and now commander of only a rocking chair on the porch of Dover Hall, Ga., and a herd of contented moolie cows.

Fallen Idols—Babe Ruth, being carried from the field after making the magnificent gesture of running for a fly ball, ought to be worth a few sticks of poetic prose. So should Burleigh Grimes, indomitable destroyer of the last world series, now suffering his magic spittle to be pasted to the far corners of the cap. Can't somebody write for us a new "Casey on the Slab"?

THWARTED DREAMS—A number of young men from whom much was expected in the Olympic Games, will sit drearily on the sidelines watching the chosen athletes go through their paces.

Gene Venzke is one of these. Herman Brix, star weight man, is another. These two might while away a few dull moments in conversation with another glacial athlete of other years, who will watch the show from the stands this time—Jim Thorpe.

Thorpe was called the greatest athlete the world ever had seen after the 1912 Olympics when he was handed his trophies by the King of Sweden. Some time later it was discovered the Sac and Fox had been guilty of professionalism, and he had to turn back all his prizes. But he had a lot of fun out of it, anyway, old Jim did.

first three minutes. In the second round Clark put the Ladd batter down for a nine count. Early in the third round Referee Sharkey called a halt to proceedings when Wetherall was staggering around after a hail of hooks and jabs from Rousch.

Paul Ardinni of Rock Falls and Pete Jones of Rochelle mixed in the second fight. Jones, star football player, seemed bent on tossing Ardinni over the ropes. Pete went down for eight beats in the second and was unable to keep away in the third to prevent Ardinni's taking the decision.

Carlson Made Good

Another local boy made good when Eddie Carlson slapped out a win over Jim Hickey of Ottawa. These lightweight gave the attendance a nice exhibition of boxing and punching. In the second period Carlson put over some tough ones that almost put Hickey out of the fight.

Some fine defensive play on the part of Kleih Graves of Peoria featured fight, Number Four, the Marselles scrapper, Preston Laurette, punched out a decision over Graves. The winner, a veteran of the amateur ring, had dynamite in either fist and used it. Graves was covering up the bigger portion of the time but worked in some nice lefts to the head late in the second.

TONY PIET WAS STAR IN DOUBLE WIN BY PIRATES

Warneke, Cubs Star, Is Credited With His 16th. Victory

The Texas League, moving ground for the hero of the last world series, Pepper Martin, may also have spawned the shining light of the Left.

Tony Piet, the young second baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates who walloped six hits, including a pair of home runs, drove in nine runs and scored four times himself yesterday, 19 to 7 and 9 to 1, has all the earmarks.

Piet, like Martin, took over his berth with the Pirates at the start of the season without benefit of ballyhoo. Born at Berwick, Pa., 25 years ago, Piet played with a semi-pro outfit around Chicago before he signed with the Corsicans, Texas, in 1928. The Pirates brought him up last season, and in 44 games he hit .299.

In addition to his great hitting exhibition against the Giants yesterday, Piet handled 19 chances without an error.

Warneke Wins

The Chicago Cubs turned back the Boston Braves, 4 to 1, with Lon Warneke hanging up his ninth straight win and his 16th of the year. Warneke knocked in two runs.

The Cincinnati Reds halted the Phillies again, 7 to 4, when George Grantham smote a home run in the ninth with two mates on base. Brooklyn made it four out of five over the St. Louis Cardinals by splitting a doubleheader. The Dodgers took the first, 9 to 6, and dropped the nightcap, 8 to 6.

With Babe Ruth returning to the line-up to bang his 27th and 28th home runs and drive in seven runs, the Yankees took a 10 to 1 fall out of the Cleveland Indians in the American League feature.

Eddie Durham pitched pretty ball, keeping nine hits well saced, to give the Boston Red Sox their third triumph over Chicago, 2 to 1. Walter Stewart pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 6 to 4 win over Washington and singled across two runs.

Detroit made enough runs off Kim McKeithan, former Duke University star, in the two and a third innings that marked his debut with Philadelphia to defeat the Athletics, 4 to 2.

Firemen Swamped

Barbers Last Eve

The Firemen's soft ball team swamped the Barbers last evening at the Kiwanis field by a score of 32 to 7 behind the pitching of Bill Pitney. Fonseca Off To Look For Ivory

Chicago, July 29—(AP)—Manager Lew Fonseca of the White Sox today planned another investigation of the ivory situation in class AA territory, with the American Associations as his field.

Fonseca didn't say just what the Sox, who went into today's engagement with the Boston Red Sox as losers in eleven of their last dozen starts, needed most. He said he would visit Louisville and Toledo, and possibly Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The club last night signed Phil Gallivan, a righthanded pitcher, who did a short hitch with Brooklyn early in the season, and who more recently became a member of the baseball army of unemployed when the Eastern League disbanded. He had been with the Brooklyn farm at Hartford, Conn.

PAAVO NURMI IS BARRED FROM ALL OLYMPIC EVENTS

Acceptance Of Excessive Expense Money His Undoing

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor

Los Angeles, July 29—(AP)—Like Hamlet without the celebrated Dane in the cast, the Olympic games will launch their most spectacular athletic show this week-end without Paavo Nurmi, the most gifted runner and most colorful personality that foot-racing has ever known.

Swiftly and without the remotest loophole for repeal, the great Finnish athlete stood barred today from all Olympic competition by a court decision rejecting his entry, based upon charges that he professionalized himself by accepting money beyond his expense requirements for a 1931 barnstorming trip through Germany.

The United States looked favorably upon Nurmi's cause so long as any reasonable doubt existed, concerning the charges against him.

Details Withheld

All officials concerned refused to go definitely into details but it was understood sworn statements of German promoters were produced to show Nurmi received from $250 to $500 for separate appearances in exhibition foot-races, during the fall of 1931.

Faced with such allegations as this, the Finnish delegates were given the option of withdrawing Nurmi's entry themselves, as a "face-saving" solution of the situation. This was unhesitatingly refused.

Nurmi was entered for the 10,000 meter run, scheduled this Sunday, as the defending champion, but his main goal was the marathon, on the following Sunday.

He has ruled the marathon favorite and was figured to smash all records for the long-distance classic as a climax to his unprecedented career as a foot racer. His banishment leaves the Finns with only two contenders in these two events.

Lee Center Will Meet Oak Ridgers

The Lee Center Grays, with Vivian or Dunseth pitching and Frost catching, will invade the Oak Ridge community Sunday afternoon to cross bats with the Ridgers, who have been stepping "high and handsome" this season. Lee will be on the mound for the Ridgers.
